

Graduate Funding

University and Maytag Fellowships

Applicants to the Department of Biology are eligible for a University Fellowship or a Maytag Fellowship. Both these fellowships provide a stipend of $20,000 for one year and an 18-credit tuition waiver, and are renewable for up to 3 years.

Lisa D. Anness Graduate Fellowship

This fellowship supports graduate students in biology who will be co-mentored by a member of the faculty of the University of Miami and a member of the research staff of the Fairchild Tropical Botanic Garden. The fellowship provides a stipend of $20,000 for one year and an 18-credit tuition waiver and is renewable for up to 3 years.

Teaching Assistantships and Research Assistantships

Students admitted to the PhD program in the Department of Biology are guaranteed ten semesters of support as either a teaching assistant or a research assistant. Both provide a stipend of $19,000 and an 18-credit tuition waiver.

In-House Research Support

Once enrolled in the graduate program, students are able to apply for support from a variety of departmental sources. These include:

- 1) Tropical Biology Fellowship – a University fellowship that provides a one-year stipend plus tuition for a student working on a question related to tropical biology.
- 2) James W. McClamore Fellowship in Tropical Biology – a fellowship to support a graduate student working in the area of tropical biology.
- 3) J. Gerry Curtis Plant Sciences Scholarships – small grants for research in pure or applied plant sciences.
- 4) Kushlan Graduate Research Support Fund – awards to doctoral students in the final stages of their doctoral work.
- 5) William H. Evoy Graduate Research Support Fund – awards to graduate students in the early stages of their research.
- 6) J. M. Savage Graduate Research Support Fund – small grants for pilot studies in ecology, behavior, and biosystematics.
- 7) Julia Morton Fellowship – a fellowship to support a graduate student working in any area of the biological sciences.
